

WHAT'S HAPPENING IN EARLY 2015!!

Farm Expo - January 17 & 18, 2015

Farm Expo returns to MeadowView Convention Center in Kingsport. Families love this two-day event. Dads can browse and shop for mowers, vehicles, farm equipment, boots, etc.; Moms will enjoy the taste and smells of the Country Fair & Ladies Market. There will be plenty for the kiddies, too! Mark your calendars and plan a weekend of farming and family fun. Keep your eyes on Kingsport Times News for more information to come.

Vegetable Gardening 101: Family Fun, Healthy Foods – February 7, 2015

The Northeast Tennessee Master Gardeners Class of 2014 will present Vegetable Gardening 101: Family Fun, Healthy Foods on Saturday, February 7, 2015 at the First Presbyterian Church in Kingsport. The workshop is designed for new vegetable gardeners in East Tennessee but will offer learning opportunities for everyone. The workshop will include an opening session by Dr. Natalie Bumgarner, the University of Tennessee Residential and Consumer Extension Specialist followed by sessions on raised bed gardening, gardening in small spaces, and growing super vegetables. The workshop will run from 8:30 to 12:30. Participants are invited to view the Harvest of Hope Gardens after the workshop. Space is limited, so early registration is encouraged, and those who register early will automatically be entered to win door prizes (must be present to win). To register, contact RLnetmga@charter.net or call Robert at 276-492-1722 or Dave at 423-929-2233. Come grow with us!?

Winter School Set for February 26-27, 2015

Lane Agri-Park, Murfreesboro, TN

Winter School for 2015 will combine leadership and education tracks throughout the two day program. Conference attendees will have the opportunity to attend sessions that correspond to their areas of interest. All sessions available for Master Gardeners and Extension Personnel will provide resources to provide organizational support and educational information to sustain the mission of the program. Lodging information is included in the printable registration form.

NEW for 2015

To assist with the conference, we kindly request volunteers to assist with meals and registration. In return for your generous donation of time to support the conference, each volunteer slot will reduce your conference registration by $40. You will be able to select these volunteer time slots (average of 4 to 6 hours) after adding the conference registration to your cart.

Pre-register by February 10 for only $80. Late or onsite registration $90, meals not guaranteed. For more information about the conference, please contact Natalie Bumgarner at 865-974-7308 or copy and paste the link below to register online.

January SAPS Meeting - New Tennessee Master Gardener Coordinator to Speak

Natalie Bumgarner

Natalie Bumgarner, UT Residential and Consumer Horticulture Extension Specialist and Tennessee Master Gardener Coordinator, will present "Peering into the Toolbox," a discussion of some new innovative practices that should increase productivity for vegetable growers, on Thursday, January 15, 2015, at 4:00 pm at Farm Bureau Office Auditorium, 1103 Boones Creek Rd. (Hwy 354), Jonesborough, TN 37659. (Auditorium is in rear of building; park in rear parking lot). In this presentation Dr. Bumgarner will discuss tools for extending the seasons and how you may apply these practices for your own vegetables on a small scale. Secondly, Natalie will demonstrate how grafting is becoming more important to veggie gardeners. She will also discuss the advantages and disadvantages of mulching.

Natalie Bumgarner, a West Virginia native with a background in agriculture, received a BS in horticulture from West Virginia University with experience in ornamental greenhouse production. Her MS, also from WVU, focused on small scale organic vegetable production practices. She completed a Ph.D. in Horticulture and Crop Science from Ohio State University with research on environment impacts on yield and crop composition in leafy vegetables. Prior to joining the UT Department of Plant Sciences, Natalie carried out postdoctoral work at Ohio State and was the Horticulturist and Research Director for CropKing, Inc. in Lodi, OH.

Sponsored by the Southern Appalachian Plant Society, this program is free and the public is invited. For more information, call 423-348-6572 or e-mail injmoore@embarqmail.com.

Native Plant Symposium – January 24, 2015

The Tennessee Valley Chapter of the Wild Ones is holding its fourth annual Native Plant Symposium, “Plant Natives 2015 – The Living Landscape” on Saturday, January 24 at Chattanooga State Community College

Humanities Auditorium from 9 am to 4 pm with registration beginning at 8 am. The program is keynoted by Doug Tallamy, author, naturalist, entomologist, and photographer. Tallamy is currently Professor and Chair of the Department of Entomology and Wildlife Ecology at the University of Delaware in Newark, Delaware, where he has written more than 65 research articles and has taught insect taxonomy, behavioral ecology, and other subjects. His books include Bringing Nature Home and co-author with Rick Darke of The Living Landscape.

Doctor Tallamy will be joined by Rita Venable, author of the recently published book Butterflies of Tennessee. Ms. Venable, who will present “A Home for Butterflies,” has published many articles and photographs in nature magazines including American Butterfly, American Gardener, Backpacker, Discover the Outdoors and National Wildlife Online. In addition, she has won Excellence in Craft awards in writing and photography from the Tennessee Outdoor Writers Association and the Southeastern Outdoor Press Association.

Landscape design is Kelly Holdbrooks’ expertise. Focusing on design principles and planting design, Ms. Holdbrooks will provide guidance for garden design using native plants. She will also share examples of landscape design at Southern Highlands Reserve, a native plant arboretum and research center in Western North Carolina.

Registration Information:

$50 in advance for Wild Ones members

$60 in advance for non-members

$70 at the door or after January 20, 2015 for everyone

$20 for students (with a valid student ID)

Lunch is included in the registration fee and there will be door prizes, exhibitors and plenty of friendly people to meet. For more information and to register, go to

<http://tennesseevalley.wildones.org/plant-natives-2015/>

You may also join Wild Ones through the website or join at the door. Chattanooga State Community College’s Humanities Auditorium is located at 4501 Amnicola Highway, Chattanooga, TN.

The Wild Ones is a national non-profit organization with over 50 chapters in 14 states that promotes environmentally sound landscaping practices to preserve biodiversity through the preservation, restoration and establishment of native plant communities. For more information about the Wild Ones, go to www.wildones.org. For more information about the Tennessee Valley Chapter email tnvalley-wildones@gmail.com or call 423-847-2012.

CHRIS RAMSEY
SULLIVAN COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT
(423) 646-9043 cwramsey@utk.edu

Winter School 2015 will be a great opportunity for Master Gardeners to network with MGs across the state, expand your knowledge about gardening, and learn more about the UT Extension Master Gardener Program. This event is scheduled for February 26 -27, 2015 in Murfreesboro, TN.

Attendance at this event will fulfill the CEU requirement for Master Gardener certification. The conference will include topics such as Diseases and Insects on Hydrangeas, Information on Balancing Pesticide Use and Biological Controls, Grafting, GMOs, Grant Readiness, Plant Scouting and Diagnostics, Social Media, Advanced Master Gardener, Junior Master Gardener, etc. You'll be sad you missed this event if you don't get to attend.

The UT Extension Master Gardener Program has a new statewide coordinator, Dr. Natalie Bumgarner. WS 2015 will be a great opportunity to hear from Dr. Bumgarner and meet her personally. Registration information can be found on the TMG website at mastergardener.tennessee.edu. I can also email you a copy of the schedule which should be posted on the website soon.

We will again recognize Master Gardeners at the February NETMGA meeting. Hopefully, you and your family will be able to attend. If you have any questions, please call me at any time.

Cultivating Leadership

This section is dedicated to those who share their gifts and talents with our organization by fearlessly managing and leading Northeast Tennessee Master Gardeners. The goal is to educate NETMGA members about each leadership position and encourage those who may feel that serving on the board might be their cup of tea. The positions highlighted are currently held, however if you are interested, just work on building a relationship with person in charge.

See Jane run....

organizing volunteers and moderators for our sprouts!

Every year from September through November our classes begin for those entering the MG program. This is a prime volunteer opportunity and a wonderful way to welcome interns. It is not unusual to see many different MG faces throughout the 3 months of classes. And who coordinates the chaos?

It's none other than our own Jane Mullins. She begins by giving the call for volunteers by way of the MG Thymes and netmga.net. Chris helps by setting the schedule and Sally Richards sends out an email as a last call for volunteers. Jane's goal is to provide each class date with 2-4 volunteers.

In addition to wrapping up volunteers, she communicates with the moderators for each class. (Moderators are the teaching components.) Jane verifies the duties, times, dates and locations for each class. Chris is kept in the loop with each contact she makes. If a moderator is new to the routine, Jane serves as hostess by coming early and providing an orientation.

In 2014 changes were made that simplified this process. Interns were asked to provide their own drink to cut down on moving parts. And a highly organized basket was created to easily transport plastic ware, napkins and trash bags. These changes made our classes more mobile. And who doesn't love a great field trip?

Jane reports that the job of coordination takes a great deal of hours, emails and phone calls, in addition to being present for most classes. If you'd like to help Jane run, don't hesitate to call or email. She will be more than happy to share this work load. Give her a call at 423-737-7915 or email ajtmul35@yahoo.com.

Addendum to Nov/Dec MG Thymes Cultivating Leadership article:
Jane Mullins, who was featured as Buds and Sprouts Coordinator in this article, performed that duty in 2013. 2014 Buds and Sprouts Coordinator was Gail Shaver.
